"WHERE ART THOU?"

Dr. Bunton Brings Out Many Good and New Points on Man's Duty to God.

Rev. G. W. Bunton, D. D., preached at the Third Street Revival Service Tuesday evening from Genesis 3:9—"Where Art Thou?" In part he said:

"This is the first question God asked man. It is a sad comment upon the father of the race to find the first divine question to him pertained to his hiding from the face of God. The first effect of sin is the alienation of the affections. Sin casts such a shadow upon the sinner that he at once endeavors to cover his sin from the sight of man and God. Where art thou, as Christians? Are you conscious of being in God's family or out? You are baptized and put into the church on conditions that your after conduct will show your worthiness of being in the fellowship of God's people. As to the query of your place as a Christian, your own conduct alone must answer that. As a child of God, are you far removed or are you close to the Father's heart? There are degrees of affection, your love is measured by your nearness and attraction for the object of that love. Martha and Mary each loved the Christ, one loved Him well enough to forsake all else and sit in His fellowship, but Martha was troubled about many things. Jesus Christ does not want to get into the culinary department of a house, but into the throne of affection of the life of men. It is not the kitchen of the world but the heart of the race that holds attraction for Christ. Are you in the darkness of doubt or are you in the light that is the result of a faith in Jesus Christ as a personal Savior? If you are near to God you cannot be in the dark for God is light and in Him is no darkness at all. Are you in the path of duty or are you out of line of duty? Elijah was out of place and to him God said, 'What dost thou here?' God is saying that over again and again to many so-called Christians. A Christian should never surprise God because of being misplaced. One should never embarrass Christ by being out of zone of safety and out of line of duty. If you are calling yourself a Christian you should keep busy at your task, co-operating with God. The Christian has a place in the home, church, society, and business. The Christian should be at ways in readiness to meet with God.

Where art thou as a SINNER? You are in your sins, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Jesus Christ came to take charge of such and redeem to everlasting life. Sin is no light offense. The gravity of sin may be seen in the facts of penalty for it which is death; in the fact of the cost of its eradication, the tragedy of Calvary, the death of Christ. In this life capital offenses are the most heinous crimes known. Sin is a capital offense. Because of sin death has been visited upon all mankind. Lent and Easter means nothing only as they point to the tragedy of Christ; man's sin made Christ's death necessary. Death came to animals as well as to man after the first sin; animals were slain, the blood used for sacrifice and the skins for the covering for man's nakedness.

The cry is not, 'Where is God?' but it is 'Where is man?' Lost to the fact that he is lost, is the sad state of man. The voice of God's concern for man's lost estate has been ringing through the centuries. That voice of man's conscience has been ever calling, rolling in through the crowded streets, along the busy streets, over goods-covered counters, above the buzz of machinery, the roar of industry, into the privacy of the home and chamber.

The sinner is in the path of ruin and death! 'The soul that sinneth it shall die' is the verdict which has stood unrepealed from the statute books of God for twenty-five centuries. 'The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ' has stood on the records of unquestioned truth since the days of Paul the apostle. The death sentence hangs over every man and woman who spurns Jesus Christ, and it is only the love of God which effects a stay of execution and grants another chance to repent. 'Ye believe not on the only begotten Son of God.' As a sinner you are under the unchanging gaze of the Almighty. He takes an account of all. As a sinner you are in the hands of God against whom you have sinned. 'It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of an angry God.'

God will demand the utmost farthing after while; but now God sits upon a throne of mercy, and will hear the cry of the sinner; but when we meet God in judgment he will occupy the seat of justice. What can you do as a sinner? You can be reconciled to God through Jesus Christ. You cannot escape nor resist Him, you can surrender and receive His pardon; but if you resist Him there remains no hope for your redemption. But the voice of God in the text is a solicitous voice, there is pathos and love and entreaty in it. It means that God is on the way to find you and save you if you will give him a chance. His eye of pity will seek thee out.

God's effort through Christ to save your soul is the grandest exhibition of divine interest and concern that can be found anywhere. It is the King of all kingdoms, the Ruler of Universal spaces in quest of a poor lost sinner undone without God!

Have you reason to be ashamed before God? Have you loved Him in proportion to His worthiness? Have you fallen in line with His will? Have you done good in proportion to your opportunity? Has God's desire to save your soul no interest for you at all? Where art thou? Give answer, 'Here Lord am I, save me or I perish.'

MEN'S MEETING

At the Christian Church Last Evening—Irish and St. Patrick Not Forgotten.

The committee in charge of the men's gathering were more than pleased with their effort to give the men of the church and Bible School a pleasant evening. Not only was the attendance good but the manner in which all entered into the spirit of Irish song telling, proves that a stag affair fills a need in the church life.

After an hour spent in games and jokes, a very interesting and instructive lecture on "The Early History of Ireland and the Life of St. Patrick" was given by Prof. E. F. Chase. Then light refreshments were served by the committee.

At different times during the evening music was furnished by a large Victrola which had been loaned by P. J. Murphy. The informality made all feel at home, and to look forward to the time of the next gathering.

SCHOOL LIBRARY

Handsome and Valuable Addition Made To It By Dr. P. G. Smoot.

We were agreeably surprised several days ago at the receipt of a set of "Messages and Papers of the Presidents" in thirteen nicely bound, gilt-edge volumes, the gift of Dr. P. G. Smoot to the High School Library. This set of books will be of great value to the classes in history, and we wish to thank Dr. Smoot through the columns of the papers, in behalf of the Board of Education and the faculty, for this splendid gift. While the High School has some reference books, yet we need many more than we have, for we do not particularly need general library books, which can be obtained from the Public Library, but reference books are needed in the school for convenient and immediate use. For that reason, we are going to extend some of the Lyceum funds for some sets of Encyclopedias for use from the sixth grade on up through the High School, and place sets in each of the buildings over the city. Should any other friends of the school have any reference works they would like to donate to the schools we would appreciate very much their notification of the same.

Farmers

Have you ever tried our way of borrowing money to pay for a farm?

You, of course, know that most farms are sold for one-third cash and the balance of the payment is represented by lien notes due in one and two years. You also know that there are times when it is impossible to pay these notes when they become due.

Our specialty is lending money on good farms for LONG PERIODS. Wouldn't you rather have five years to pay the balance than two years? Any one expecting to buy farms this March will do well to come in and consult us about getting the money.

We have been giving satisfactory service for 24 years.

ELECTRIC SIGNS!

The distinguishing air of quality which a first-class Electric Sign gives to a store is the element which gives a sign its greatest value as an advertising medium and investment. The impression it makes is good. It blazes forth to the public that there is business enterprise, merchandise and methods up-to-date. It affects the entire atmosphere of the business district. The stranger says, "It is a live town," and publishes it abroad.

It is the Sign of the Times.
